Stockton Convention, April 7-10

By DOROTHY E. BEAULIEU

Final plans have been made for the 26th semi-annual convention of the California State Numismatic Association in Stockton, Calif., according to Norman F. Pruitt, general chairman. Hotel Stockton on Weber Ave. is headquarters for the April 7-10 event.

Stockton is one of the most colorful and historical cities in the United States. Its history, is, in effect, the history of California. Over a century ago, the lure of gold in the neighboring Mother Lode region brought thousands of fortune hunters through Stockton. Water transportation—from San Francisco Bay up the San Joaquin River—made Stockton the supply point for food, equipment and repairs.

Along with the Argonauts came the builders—farmers, merchants, workers, investors. California needed food, and the Delta lands proved fabulously fertile. Coupled with handy transportation means, the combination promised much for Stockton. Where once had been marshes and muddy streets lined with sprawling shacks, here is a thriving, modern city. It is the home of College of the Pacific, California's oldest incorporated collegiate institution, and Haggin Memorial Art Galleries and Pioneer Historical Museum. Stockton also has its own Pixie Woods, a children's playland nestled in an enchanted area of beautiful trees, magic ponds and inhabited by familiar Mother Goose characters, animals and settings.

Great Bank Holiday

"The Great Bank Holiday," an article on the depression of the early 1930s by William Manchester, appears in the February 1960 issue of Holiday magazine (Pages 60-61, 137-140, 142-143). It includes the story of the period's barter and of the scrip issued by governmental bodies and individual firms; also, the issue of new money based on sound bank assets.

NEW ENGLISH POUND NOTE

The Bank of England is scrapping its bulky pound ($2.80) note in favor of a smaller one, more suitable to wallets of American tourists. New size is 2 13/16 by 5 15/16 inches, slightly larger than the present United States dollar bill.

A portrait of Queen Elizabeth II appears on obverse—first time in history that a reigning British monarch's head has appeared on a Bank of England note.

Let's Change if It's for CSNA Betterment

Last November at the Pasadena convention banquet, I semi-seriously stated that CSNA would undergo changes during my term as president. I did not mean by this, of course, that the old order was out-of-date and antiquated and should be relegated to the discard. The intent was to bring us up-to-date with the demands of changing times.

At our Pasadena business meeting, we proposed and decided to change the publication of Calcoin News from bimonthly to quarterly. This did not infer that something was wrong with the magazine. On the contrary, we all are convinced that we have a most outstanding publication. It is purely numismatic and so well devoted to the interests of CSNA that few, if any, complaints have been heard. Much of the credit for this is due to our capable editor, Charles V. Kappen, who with a minimum of monetary reward has devoted so much of himself and his time to this work. If we were to make a comparison of Calcoin News with other numismatic publications on a strict journalistic level, we would stand to come up with a blue ribbon. The change we have made was our editor's idea. We feel it will result in letting him give us a magazine that will be even better than it was before.

Now the next move for a change is a proposed amendment to our by-laws which will provide for electing officers to a two-year term instead of the present one-year term. This will give CSNA the same term of office as ANA, the national organization. It will allow more time for new officers to become accustomed to the duties of their office, and to implement any programs which they may find it advisable to undertake. It also will cut in half the time and expense of changing administrations every year. Members of the executive board have given this amendment their approval and recommend that it be enacted at the forthcoming business meeting.

A further change in policy by the executive board relates to the award of the auction at convention meetings. It is the general feeling that both the spring and fall meeting auctions should be combined in one package and given to one bidder for any one year. This has its advantage, not only for CSNA, but also for the auctioneer. If there is any preference for either the north or south meetings, he will then have the average of the two. More time will be had for preparing for both auctions and CSNA will be spared time and effort in placing each one separately. Under this new policy, the executive board has placed the auctions for both the Stockton and San Diego meetings in 1960 under one bid with the same auctioneer.

One more thought in line with the theme of making a change has been put forward by some members and will be mentioned here only to let everyone consider it and talk about it. This also has to do with consolidation and time saving. It would change the present custom of holding two state conventions each year, first in the north and then in the south, to a new plan of holding only one convention each year, the north having the odd numbered years, and the south having the even numbered years, the time of year to be determined when the change is made. No attempt will be made here to give any arguments pro and con for the change. These can be brought out in discussion around the state and at the Stockton meeting. Let everyone be heard before we tackle this one. It will be no small change if we make it.

In closing this message, I must call your attention again to the convention itself in April. I have been in close touch with our director and convention chairman, Norman F. Pruitt. He is "Mr. Stockton" himself. I have worked on many conventions but never have found a more capable and efficient general chairman. He and his helpers seem to have every detail in hand. They are ready and raring to start the proceedings. Let's all plan to attend.

Who's Who In California Numismatics

Dan Harley

By R. G. McARTHUR

Although, according to Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, "he is a thoughtful, energetic young man, an honest, capable numismatist and a potential CSNA leader," his wife, Irene, says that Dan Harley is "ornery and hard to get along with."

Born June 20, 1917, in Lunenberg, Mass., Dan grew to young manhood in that eity, being graduated from Lunenberg High School in June 1935. From that time until September 1939 he was employed in various aireraft faetories along the east coast from Bridgeport, Conn., to Baltimore, Md.

On Labor Day, 1939, Harley arrived in Los Angeles. He was married to Irene Burkhalder June 1, 1941. The Harleys made their home in Whittier, Calif., until 1951; resided in Arcadia in 1952, and moved to Pomona, their prcsent home, in January 1953. Sinee 1950, Dan has been an employee of Airjet-General Corp.

Dan, who lists his "other hobby" as Ghost Town hunting in California and Nevada, began collecting eoins in 1953. Quoting Charles Colver, "Although being among the newer collectors, Dan has made great strides in both his colleetion and his knowledge of numismatics. Praetically sinee the day he started it has been full steam ahcad, never once losing interest or getting tcmporarily sidetraeked as do so many new eolleetors. Soon after starting someone advised him to lateh onto somc established colleetors and just tag along. This he did, but bcfore too long, he no longer was tagging but was doing the leading in many respects.

"Besides his original interest in all phases of United States numismaties, he soon beeame engrossed with the coinage of Mexico. With his usual zest, it was just a matter of time until he beeame a local authority on this subject, and everyone with an old coin from south of the border was looking for Dan Harley."

Three articles by Harley have been published in California Herald, magazine of Native Daughters of the Golden West. These are "Pieees of 8," February 1957; "Early California Small Gold Coins," Mareh 1957; and "California on Coins," June 1957.

Dan, a willing worker, is quick to volunteer his services as program chairman or elub speaker. He was secretary of the San Bernardino Coin Club in 1957 and 1958 and its vice president for 1959 and 1960. He served on the board of directors of the Orangc County Coin Club in 1958, was its vice president in 1959 and eurrently is presidcnt. In 1959 Harley was elected to the board of governors of the California Statc Numismatic Association and presently is serving in that eapaeity.

In the words of another old friend. Bryan Burke Jr., "Dan has been known to give membership in elubs and to pay for subseriptions to coin magazines for young collectors.

"Dan really enjoys his hobby. Wherever he goes, he publicizes the coin hobby by showing coins of interest and by displaying a real zeal for numismatics. If hobbies are contagious, Dan is a real carrier with his friendship and warm personality."

NATIONAL COIN WEEK, 1960

National Coin Week will take place April 24-30. The theme, "Why It Pays To Be a Numismatist," will call to the attention of many non-collectors the value of being a numismatist.

E. I. (Jack) Rand, general chairman, states: "According to the Census Bureau, there will be a hundred million more people in this wonderful country of ours by 1980. Naturally, a portion of these juniors are potential ANA members. They also predicted that there will be a substantial increase in persons over the age of 65. The number of elderly folks would increase by about 500,000 annually. What hobby could be more interesting for the retired? For that reason, I have chosen this theme for National Coin Week."

HISTORIAN'S NOTES

My thanks to Bryan Burke Jr. for his fine job as assistant historian for the Pasadena convention Nov. 5-8, and to Dan Harley and the San Bernardino County Coin Club for pictures of the Riverside convention in November 1958. I also thank Dr. Nathan Bowers, Charles V. Jones, Jack Hecht and Norman Pruitt for ribbons, programs, bulletins and magazines they have sent me.

I am in need of the following issues of Calcoin News to complete a set for the Smithsonian Institution: Vol. 2, Nos. 1 and 3; Vol. 3, No. 3; and Vol. 12, No. 6. The set for Smithsonian will be bound by H. F. Bowker of Oakland, CSNA member No. 1000. I have many other requests for past issues of Calcoin News by persons who wish to complete their sets and have them bound. If you do not save yours, why not send it to your historian, that he may pass it on to others for completion of their sets?

Carl Klaffke is assistant historian for the Stockton convention April 7-10. —Erich Werling.

By CHARLES M. JOHNSON

Southern California coin clubs have been occupied with annual elections and officer installations. Annual banquets and family nights on these occasions feature fine food and entertainment, accompanied by an occasional speech, presentation of awards for club activities and coin talk.

The Orange County Club's annual banquet, one of the oldest affairs of this kind, was attended by many guests from other area clubs. This year's program featured short stories and jokes by George Riley and numbers by a singing quartet. Dr. Verner Rich installed new officers.

At the Long Beach Coin Club's banquet, the new president was presented with the customary new gavel, properly inscribed with his name and year of office. The secretary received an ornamental plaque inscribed with his name and containing his picture, and a mounted gold piece.

The Garden Grove club banquet featured a potluck dinner with an Indian Lore club providing the entertainment.

The Los Angeles club installed new officers at the January meeting and presented them with appropriate gifts: toy badge and handcuffs for Bob Schmitt, sergeant at arms; a mile-long pen for Leonard Simon, recording secretary; a spindle for bills for Marlene Simon, corresponding secretary; a badge for Walter Snyder, second vice president; a miniature gavel for Paul Freestone, first vice president, and a toy whistle for Murray Singer, president.

The San Diego club banqueted at Admiral Kidd Officer's Club Jan. 23. The San Bernardino County club went to the Azure Hills Country Club near Loma Linda Jan. 22.

OCCC MEMORIAL MEETING

The 257th meeting of the Orange County Coin Club was a memorial meeting for Dr. C. Glenn Curtis, and included a few well chosen words from Dr. Calvert L. Emmons and Ralph A. Mitchell. Bryan Burke, introduced as "Collector of the Month," presented a five-minute talk on his prize possession, a 1792 half disme. John Lenker of Redlands, principal speaker, gave a detailed account of his experiences with the Russians during World War II.

The December meeting featured Dan Harley as "Collector of the Month". Harley showed foreign coins in which 14 different metals or combinations of metals were used. In addition, he displayed several U.S. sets. His complete display contained 222 different coins. Don Smyser of Downey spoke about the Christmas story and the lands where it occurred, the rulers who governed these lands, and the coins they issued. He brought with him a fine display of these coins to illustrate his talk.

'OREGON CENTENNIAL MEDALS'

John Parrish spoke at the February meeting of the Los Angeles Coin Club on "Oregon Centennial Medals" and displayed his prize-winning collection of these tokens. He recounted some of his experiences in obtaining the pieces during a special trip to Oregon for this purpose, then described their many different features.

QUIZ PANEL AT SAN DIEGO

The October meeting of the San Diego Numismatic Society produced a snappy question and answer period on coins. The 112 members and guests present asked a quiz panel made up of Paul Hamm, Leroy Harvey and Leonel Panosh many questions concerning coin collecting, such as:

Q.—How can collectors get current issues of new coins?

A.—From the bank and coin dealers.

Q.—How can purchases be controlled so one will not be broke all the time?

A.—Set up and observe a budget, and do not try to complete any series in a hurry.

Q.—Should coins be cleaned?

A.—If dirty, use soap and water, otherwise leave the coin alone.

In November the San Diego club showed ANA slides on "Postage and Fractional Currency," with Louis Walrath narrating the script and Francis Jones operating the projector.

THE 'JULIAN SUCCESSION'

Dr. Charles Harbeck, Los Angeles physician and an old-time collector of Roman coins, spoke at the February meeting of the Long Beach Coin Club on "Julian Succession," during which he told the story of the beginning of the Imperial Roman Empire under Julius Caesar and the succeeding five emperors. Many Roman dupondii, sestertii and denarii were placed on a large chart used to illustrate the relationship of these coins to the emperors and their families. A beautiful portrait denarius showing Mark Anthony on one side and Cleopatra on the other highlighted the Roman coin display. Dr. Harbeck collected many of his Roman coins while serving with the allied armies in Europe during World War II.

NEW CLUB AT SANTA FE

The latest addition to Southern California's growing list of coin clubs is the Santa Fe Springs Coin Club, recently organized with 36 charter members. This new club meets on the second Friday of each month at the American Legion Hall, 11986 E. Front St., Norwalk. Harold Wasner of Santa Fe Springs is president.

A Monetary Review of Finland

By ROY HILL, San Francisco

The story of the money of Finland, like that of any other country, would be a lengthy presentation if it included all details. This article covers only some of the highlights, that the average collector may see that problems in Finland's development have been much the same as those of any other country, regardless of size or worldly influence.

Finland (Soumi to its natives) is now a sovereign republic on the Fenno-Scandinavian peninsula of northern Europe, bounded on the east and southeast by Soviet Russia, on the south by the Gulf of Finland, on the southwest by the Baltic Sea, on the west by the Gulf of Bothnia, on the northwest by Sweden, and on the north by Norway. Its former access to the Arctic Ocean was taken away as Russian World War II treaty booty. Many people mistakenly think that Finland is a part of Scandinavia, but in reality it is not. The Finns are of an entirely different source racially than are any of their neighbors.

The origin of the Finns is a point of many interesting and varying opinions. It is generally conceded, however, that they belonged to the Turanian tribes which passed through Persia, possibly as early as the ninth century, moving then through southern Europe, up through what used to be Latvia, Lithuania and Esthonia, and from there into what is now Finland. The settlements and expansions of the Swedes toward the east and of the Russians toward the west eventually brought these two nations face to face across a Finnish fence. These meetings often as not started conflicts lasting over many centuries, with Finland as their battleground.

Finland, a little larger than the United Kingdom but smaller than California, now has a population of more than 4,000,000. Because of the extensive barren Lapland areas, heavy forest regions and countless thousands of lakes and waterways, the arable portion is in the south and that is where most of the people live. Nature's icy movement centuries ago gave Finland a topography which makes for a wondrous vacation land.

Eric I, king of Sweden, conquered the Finnish tribes in the twelfth century. Thus began the introduction of Swedish influence in all its phases upon the Finns. The treatment accorded the Finns and the many self-ruling grants from Sweden, including the grant of grand duchy status and its own constitution to Finland, carried over, even after the Russians tooks over in 1809, year of Abraham Lincoln's birth.

The great freedoms which Finland enjoyed under Sweden were "guaranteed" by Russia as part of the changeover in 1809, but eventually the rapid development of Finnish customs, culture and a spirit of nationalism didn't set well with the Russian czar's representative (governor general) late in the nineteenth century. Conflicts of interests led to Finland declaring its independence in 1917, after the overthrow of the Russian imperial Romanoff rule.

Finland had no real monetary system of its own while it was part of Sweden, so we must assume that whatever monetary system was in use in Sweden also was applicable to Finland. By the time Russia took over in 1809, increased economic activity called for something for Finland apart from that provided by its ruling authority. The granting of a charter to the Bank of Finland in 1811, without a system of Finland's own, brought increased need for some official action. This led to establishment of the silver Russian ruble as the standard legal tender for Finland in 1844.

This was all well and good, but when the Russians became involved in the Crimean War in 1854, the need for money necessitated "borrowings," and much of it was effected by extracting from the Finns all their gold and silver, including their coins, for which the Russians gave them bonds as security. When Russia reneged on her word to pay back, Finland not only was without gold and silver, but without anything resembling a monetary standard. The urgency of this situation culminated in a Russian imperial decree in 1860, giving Finland a monetary system of its own.

The Finnish Mint was completed in 1864. In the following year, the regular issue of Finnish coins was under way, although some had appeared in 1864.

Finnish independence in action and thinking came to light even in the matter of its own monetary system, which Russia had decreed should be based on the Russian measure. The Finns liked the French metric system better, so without hesitation, and strangely enough without rebuff from Russia, they adopted the French metric system. Instead of setting their denominations in terms of a Finn mark being equal to a Russian ¼-ruble, they made the Finn mark equal to one French franc, which in turn was equal to about 20 cents United States money. The unit was a 1 markka in silver and the smallest coin was a 1 penni in copper. Other denominations were, in silver, 2 markkaa and 25 and 50 pennia; and in copper, 5 and 10 pennia. Note the spelling for plural values.

The details of what took place from now on in the matter of regular coins would be a succession of many changes, some minute but technical of necessity. Suffice to say that world events and the changes effected upon the moneys of world powers brought necessary changes in metallic content, weight and size from time to time.

The world fluctuation of silver in the 1860s necessitated the adoption of a mono-metallic gold basis under Act of Aug. 9, 1877, by which gold coins were introduced; the 10 markkaa and the 20 markkaa, each worth, respectively, 10 and 20 French francs or about $2 and $4 United States money. These gold coin issues were destined to cease shortly before World War I.

A most interesting phase in the Finnish money came about in 1917-1918, when the Russian imperial government was overthrown and Finland declared its freedom. Collectors often think that stamps quickly reflect such changes, but oddly, in this case, it is the coins and not the stamps which tell the story. Since 1865 and into the early months of 1917, the coins of Finland reflected the Russian authority, with the Russian coat of arms on the gold and silver coins and on the copper coins the initial representing the name of the reigning czar of Russia. In 1917, just after the overthrow of Russian imperial rule, the silver and copper coins show an "uncrowned" double eagle representing a changed Russian authority. Such a change is not shown on any stamps of the time. The coins showing the Russian imperial authority, issued early under date of 1917, are much scarcer than the changed authority designs of that same year.

Finland's declaration of independence brought on many problems and as is usual there is, in such times, a struggle for power and authority over the new order. A civil war broke out, in which some Russian elements joined forces with similar thinking Finns. They, upon seizing control of Helsinki, moved in quickly on the mint and found already in preparation coins for the new independent

Finland. They proceeded to strike coins for their own use, representing their (Bolshevik) authority. They used their own design as their symbol, but retained the already prepared denomination side design. These designs ultimately were used on the regular issues of Finland, beginning with the 5 pennia copper coin in 1918. The invading forces struck copper and silver coins, but because their unwelcome stay did not last long, only a few of the 5 pennia copper coins got out. The silver coins apparently were all "rescued."

Mint building at Helsinki, opened in 1864

After World War I came adjustments in the new status as a republic, new currency values entailed by the drastic revision of worldwide monetary values, and the disappearance of gold and silver coins altogether. There was a brief return to gold in one year only, 1926, and then again the many changes made necessary since currency revisions and revaluations all over the world. The denominations of the gold coins of 1926 — 100 and 200 markkaa as against 10 and 20 markkaa before World War I — tell what was happening to Finland's monetary value. The former small silver coins now were reduced to nickel and by 1924 the 1 penni coin was dropped as being too small a unit for practical use. The values that used to be the gold coins were now out in aluminum bronze, and as events incidental to the two wars Finland had with Russia as part of World War II unfolded, coupled with world monetary changes, the coins of Finland gradually showed decline in value by changes in metal, going from copper to iron and then to aluminum, some denominations fading out altogether. Where the penni and pennia values were before, we now find the markka and markkaa values, the latter running up to 50 on the coins. Changes are even expected to bring out higher denomination coins in values of 100 or more markkaa. Before, such values were reserved for paper money.

Finland does not have commemorative coins as we know them, save one, the Olympic coin of 1952. This coin first was struck in 1951, so a few bear that date, but by far the major portion are dated 1952. This, so far, is the only coin issued by any country to commemorate the Olympic games. It is of silver, 500 fine. To show the decline in the country's currency, it had been intended to issue such a coin for the "scheduled" Olympic Games of 1944, but had it been issued then, a denomination of 50 markkaa would have sufficed, whereas by 1952 it had to be raised to 500 markkaa.

Finland has had paper money, too. We won't delve into that interesting phase other than to state that the Finns have had all kinds, even some of the small "shinplaster" types during the World War I era.

It can be seen that even a little country such as Finland has had quite a history in its coins and monetary system, and though not yet 100 years old, it has had quite a test. Surprisingly, the Finn mark, starting out on a par with the mighty French franc, hasn't lost as much ground as its "example" of the pioneering days. The fact that there is little written on Finland's coins for American consumption is a challenge for new collectors in this field to probe further into untold chapters in preparing a much more comprehensive monetary review of Finland.

Hawaii Statehood Commemorative Token

A commemorative "coin," honoring Hawaii statehood, is circulating in Hawaii at its face value, $1. It is being used in hundreds of cooperating Island retail establishments as a medium of exchange until July 1.

The size of a silver dollar, the bronze token, gilt, was conceived by officials of the Maui Chamber of Commerce. Designed by Fred Ward, president, and E. Marion Sexton, manager of the Maui chamber, it was stamped by the Wendell-Northwestern firm of Minneapolis, Minn.

Obverse of the token bears the imprint of the great seal of Hawaii as redesigned under statehood, together with the names of all inhabited islands. At top is HAWAII, and at bottom, THE 50th STATE, USA. 1959. On reverse, HAWAII, THE ALOHA STATE — STATEHOOD YEAR SOUVENIR COIN. Additional reverse inscription: "Good for $1 in trade in the 50th State at any cooperating business, or redeemable at face value at the office of the Maui Chamber of Commerce until noon Friday, July 1, 1960."

The first 40,000 coins contained the misspelling of the Island of Oahu (shown on the "coins" as "Ohau"). The error was corrected. Half the tokens with error have been reserved for Mainland collectors. It is expected that 150,000 pieces altogether will be struck.

More than 60 banks are cooperating to assist in the sale and distribution of the statehood souvenir, according to the sponsors, together with retailers on all islands. Any profit realized will be used to promote neighbor island tourism.

Mail orders may be sent to the Junior Achievement of Hawaii, P. O. Box 2053, Honolulu, Hawaii, or to the Maui Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 138, Wailuku, Hawaii. Surface mail costs will be paid by the sponsors. If airmail is desired, an additional 7 cents per coin must be included.

FRANCLY SPEAKING:

The Big Change Comes to France

By MYRON CLEMENT

The most current news on the French tourist horizon this year is currency.

From Paris to the Pyrenees, from the Champs-Elysees to the Riviera, Frenchmen are jingling new coins in their pockets, folding crisp new bills. School kids find arithmetic somewhat less arduous, accountants can speed calculations, tourists can make mental franc/dollar leaps with a minimum of effort.

Cause of all the enthusiasm is the recently introduced monetary unit of France, officially known as the "new franc," and unofficially as the "hard." "heavy" and "earnest" franc. (The last name a contribution of the U. S. magazine, Town and Country.) It will restore simplicity to the nation's transactions, eliminate low denomination paper money, create heavy coins minted in silver.

For tourists about to embark to France this year or any year in the sixties, the French Government Tourist Office adds a few lines of explanation to the officially published tables of rates and equivalents.

1. The "new" franc is simply a redesignation, not a revaluation of the "old" franc. In its terminology it merely lops two zeros off the previous numerals. Thus the old 10,000 francs is now 100 francs, 5000 francs has become 50 francs, and so on down the line. There are now subdivisions of the new franc, called centimes. familiar to travelers of 25 years ago.

2. There are 4.93 new francs to the dollar, compared with 493 old francs per dollar. For everyday approximations, one franc equals about 20 cents.

3. Most prices have been quoted in both old and new francs since last July. For example, a first class hotel room has been quoted as 5000 old or 50 new francs, both approximately equivalent to $10. Restaurants, stores and travel agencies also display both rates. Even the first printed "new" francs themselves were merely "old francs" overprinted with the new rates, so that people could see the two figures side by side. Henceforth the bills will be printed with only the new values.

4. Some other typical prices in new francs: a meal at Maxim's is about 35 francs. An average meal is about 15 francs. Entrance fees to museums (other than those that are free) run from about 50 centimes to 1 franc. A city-wide sightseeing tour of Paris starts at 10 francs.

5. All old-style francs in possession of travelers may be freely used in France, or exchanged for "heavy" francs at banks throughout the country.
